Eskimos Brush Up on New T-Formation Crippled B.C. Mills

Back in Business As Big Strike Ends

Engineers Given Wage Hike

Johnny's Hat 'Fits' City

End of the three-week strike of International Operating Engineers (AFL-TLC) allows 8,000 lumber and pulp mill workers—5,000 on Vancouver Island—to go back to work today.

Following an emergency meeting in Vancouver yesterday, settlement was reached and communicated immediately to all union locals concerned.

It allowed immediate disbanding of pickets and return of shifts to mills at midnight.

Some 150 striking engineers have idled or partly shut down operations in B.C. mills since Sunday, Nov. 8.

At 2:30 p.m., Labor Minister Lyle Wicks confirmed word of the strike settlement. It was he who had called representatives of the employers, Forest Industrial Relations and Engineers' delegates to Vancouver to meet B.C.'s chief conciliator, William Fraser, yesterday.

Mr. Wicks said the strike had been working a hardship on some communities (Alberni and Port Alberni) had asked government intervention fearing distress due to unemployment in mills. He said the strike had been allowed to continue it would have caused grievous bodily harm to others than those directly involved in the dispute—the mill operators and striking engineers.

Terms of settlement were officially announced as 10 cents-an-hour increase for engineers involved.

The boost would be retroactive to June 15, but spread over two years. In other words, engineers get an immediate retroactive five-cent-an-hour increase, and another five-cent hike next June 15. Engineers had sought a 10 per cent overall wage increase.

The agreement, said Mr. Wicks, was signed by Ed Callan, Victoria, and Harry Berger, of Vancouver, representing the engineers, and John Billings, for the Forest Industrial Relations organization.

During the strike, International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CIO) union men had circumscribed pickets at vital desert flank of the Allan opening session.

Usually reliable sources said Middle Eastern powers and Britain offered to put her ex-Macmillan set up a military committee of high officers to use of atomic energy at the disposal of member states of the ancient military structure binding the members into a NATO.

Eskimo fullback Johnny Bright took one look at Victoria yesterday and rushed right out to buy a hat to fit the occasion.

British Offer Alliance Proposed Of Science, Wealth

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters)—Britain Monday proposed an alliance between the technical skills of the West and the oil wealth of the Middle East to bring peace and prosperity to the area.

Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan made the proposal at an aid and Iran, stressed the urgency of the opening meeting of the council of the pro-Western Middle East Defence Organization—pressed the hope the United States will join the pact.

The U.S. already has decided "work miracles in health, human welfare, productivity and with the pact and has four objectives at the closed meeting the region which constitutes a vital desert flank of the Allan opening session.

Usually reliable sources said Middle Eastern powers and Britain offered to put her ex-Macmillan set up a military committee of high officers to use of atomic energy at the disposal of member states of the ancient military structure binding the members into a NATO.

'Differences' Arising Paper Urges Meeting Of Eden, Eisenhower

LONDON (Reuters)—The Daily Mail proposes a meeting at Gettysburg, Pa., soon between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden because a common policy between Britain and the United States has become of "critical importance."

"Differences seem already to have arisen over the four-power failure," the Conservative newspaper says, referring to the recent meeting in Geneva of the foreign ministers of Britain, the United States, Russia and France.

It claims the same elections are influencing American support of Israel through a desire to conciliate the Jewish vote at home.

Britain apparently is supporting the Arabs.

"Here is a situation of grave danger, with Britain apparently ranged on one side and America on the other," the Daily Mail adds.

It also says there is Anglo-American rivalry over oil in the Persian Gulf area.

In the face of these apparently contradictory policies in the Middle East, Russia is increasing her influence in the area the paper says.

Ferguson Design For British Car Radical But Cheap

LONDON (Reuters)—An ultra-modern "people's car" designed by tractor king Harry Ferguson is Britain's secret weapon in the war for export markets and will "revolutionize" the industry, a spokesman for his company said Monday.

Details of the car are a closely-guarded secret, but at a pre-tax cost of from £100 to £150 it will include heretofore expensive conveniences such as a four-wheel drive and a revolutionary type of transmission.

The government is keenly interested in Ferguson's car as a means of winning back the car export trade. The designers claim the car with its technical advances, will outstrip in performance any car of comparable price.

The spokesman said: "A factor for his car, soon will prototype has been tested against every make of car from the America, Italy, Germany, spokesman said.

On her left was Normie Kwong, yard-consuming fullback; on her right, Rollie Miles, redoubtable halfback, and across the table Jackie Parker, famous quarterback. Mrs. Irwin poured and chatted with the Eskimos, here for training for Grey Cup final in Vancouver Saturday. Only Rollie Miles was not in pads and sweatshirt. Players paid about Emorsson hotel in full football regalia, except for elevated shoes, which they don on steps outside. Helmets, right, were set aside while stars sipped tea.

Bombay Flares With Rioting

BOMBAY (AP)—More than 200,000 rioters led by Communists and Socialists of the extreme left hammer and sickle flags, egging turned India's second largest city on the frenzied mobs and ordering them to "capture" the state legislature, meeting to discuss the city's future under the new state plan.

It was the second successive day of violence and the third outbreak against the government in four days.

Police and army units stayed on the alert Monday night. There was sporadic violence even after darkness fell.

The riots, the worst in Bombay in the eight years of India's independence, grew out of protest demonstrations against the decision of the federal government to make a separate state of Bombay.

Police Monday night imposed a city-wide ban on the assembly of more than four persons. Authorities reported 165 passenger buses were damaged, including six burned out. 15 streets were wrecked by the rioters; five police outposts were set on fire, and some fire engines were damaged.

Cafe Bids For Power In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Joao Cafe Filho moved Monday night to reclaim the presidency of Brazil, posing the third government crisis in two weeks. But a congressional leader predicted Congress will approve a resolution barring Cafe's return.

With tension mounting in the capital, armed troops surrounded the presidential palace, the chamber of deputies, the war ministry and other key points. Troops passing through the streets en route to their posts were applauded by bystanders.

The government also imposed censorship on political news in newspapers, radio stations and outgoing news cables.

The area around the presidential palace was sealed off by troops. Provisional president Seneo Ramos, the second of Cafe's substitutes, presumably was inside the building.

Cafe made his bid late in the day after he was discharged from a hospital where he underwent treatment for the heart attack that forced him to take a leave of absence from the presidency.

Thomas Brands Chamber Booklet Cleverly Designed Propaganda

A booklet, "What About Profits?" which Victoria Chamber of Commerce officials last night asked the Greater Victoria School Board to distribute in schools, has "factual inaccuracies, innuendoes and inferential comments," Dr. J. M. Thomas told the school board last night.

Dr. Thomas, who is a high school principal and supporter of the CCF, told the school board he was speaking as an "individual" and not representing any organization.

George Wheaton, speaking for the chamber, said the Canadian Chamber of Commerce published booklet as "a factual presentation in simple language, explaining the basic functioning of our business system."

"We would emphasize that we believe it to be factual, and would be prepared to withdraw our request for its distribution if it can be shown that the material is not factual," he said.

BOARD YIELDED
The school board at a previous meeting granted permission for distribution of the booklet and later yielded to opposition by the CCF and referred the matter to the department of education.

"Certainly the chamber of commerce supports your view it is cleverly designed."

He added: "The assumption that all the booklet states is true, is a false basis and quite indefensible."

He said "the booklet does advocate a particular viewpoint, but this viewpoint is based on debatable evidence."

Dr. Thomas said that "schools should never be used to propagandize for believers in any religious denomination, political party or economic doctrine. The schools present facts, definitions and explanations and that is the extent of their field."

"To me the public school system is the very foundation stone of democracy. It must never become the tool of any 'ism' of any kind."

Christ Seen in Vision At Depth of Illness

VATICAN CITY (UP)—The authority of Vatican officials who in turn must answer to the Pope, circulated its own announcement under the heading: "About the sensational announcement of the weekly magazine Oggi."

The announcement confirmed a report published Saturday by the illustrated weekly magazine Oggi that the Pope had seen the figure of Christ appearing at the Pope's bedside while he was alone and saying the prayer, "Soul of Christ."

The article said the Pope was positive he saw Christ. It said it was not a dream, for the Pope was fully awake and lucid at the time.

The Vatican had maintained silence on the report during the weekend.

Manning Raps Timid Investors

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Manning disclosed Monday that large United States companies are gaining increasing control of Alberta's expanding oil industry and pinned part of the blame on the over-cautiousness of Canadian investors.

The provincial Social Credit leader told the Gordon economic commission Alberta has been criticized for opening doors to American money, but the province turned to the U.S. in the early days of the western oil boom simply because eastern Canadian firms didn't appear interested.

"The U.S. firms were willing to take the risk while eastern Canadian firms were slow in believing in our potential," the premier said.

"If we had waited for Canadian investment to get our start, we would be far behind where we now are."

STILL TIME

But he indicated there is still time for Canadians to get aboard, Alberta had only "scratched the surface" in harnessing her resources. The future was rich with opportunity.

Brush Walnuts Before Storing

BY M. V. CHESNUT, F.R.H.S.

Quite a few readers have written to me for a method of storing walnuts to keep them fresh and sound.

The best way I know of is to remove all husks and shreds by scrubbing with a stiff brush in a mixture of sand and water, or by using a wire brush with water alone. One of those little brushes with bristles of brass wire, used ordinarily for bringing up the nap on suede shoes, is excellent for the purpose.

After scrubbing, spread the nuts out in a single layer indoors to dry. Don't go bunging them into the oven or use artificial heat in any way. Then, store the nuts in a box of dry sand, sprinkling a little salt over each layer of nuts before adding the sand.

Health Authorities Prepared To Fight Chlorination Issue

A fight awaits Mayor Claude L. Harrison if he is re-elected, as chairman of the Greater Victoria water board, tries to end chlorination of the water supply next spring.

The mayor implied yesterday, although he didn't say directly, that he will try to halt the chlorination that has been in effect since the war years.

"I think you'll find chlorination will be lifted as soon as the spring runoff is finished, about May," he said.

"The water has increased so greatly in safety factors, it is nowhere near the danger point. Last summer showed beyond a doubt that it needs no chlorination."

He said he thought "the feeling" of the water board was that chlorination should be ended.

But other members of the water board didn't agree with him, and there were indications that public health authorities would put up a stiff fight.

Reeve Fred Norris of Oak Bay said definitely: "No, I'm not in favor of doing away with chlorination."

The last time it had been discussed by the board, he said, the question had actually been extension of chlorination (to the water supply for Sooke harbor residents).

Elwood Gropp, sanitary inspector of the Victoria-Esquamalt health district, said that in regular tests of the water in the reservoirs (before chlorination), counts of bacteria were consistently worse than allowable according to public health standards.

"From medical advice I have had," Mr. Scourrah said last night, "I think it is necessary to be both realistic and reasonable about this question."

"While the contamination possibility is not as great here as in some places, I still would consider the city to be in a very weak position if we took the chlorine out of the water and had an outbreak of typhoid, for instance."

"Every large city on this continent takes the precaution of chlorination. I think it would be unwise to take the chlorine out and I am supported in that view by medical opinion."

NEW B-A GASOLINE PREVENTS STALLING IN THIS DANGER ZONE!

REVOLUTIONARY DE-ICER ADDITIVE IN 98 GASOLINE ELIMINATES CARBURETOR ICE!

Right now your car is operating in a temperature danger zone—between 28° and 58° F. when ice frequently forms on the throttle plate of the carburetor—choking off fuel mixture during idling. That's why here in British Columbia, your car needs B-A 98 Gasoline with the new De-Icer Additive—B-A's revolutionary new ingredient that eliminates carburetor ice... prevents stalling during idling... and at the same time, contains an exclusive anti-rust inhibitor to protect your fuel system against damaging rust formation.

So don't take chances with your car in this temperature danger zone. Fill up with clean-burning B-A Gasoline—the only gasoline with the new Anti-Rust De-Icer Additive.

B-A 98 GASOLINE with new de-icer additive stops this!

Before engine is fully warmed up, vaporizing of ordinary gasoline chills throttle plates etc., allowing ice to form.

At stops, when engine idles, ice forms between edges of throttle and carburetor throat, cutting off both air and fuel... stalling engine.

Inspector Says 20,000 Pupils Here by 1960

A picture of the need for a secondary-school building program soon was presented to the Greater Victoria school board last night by John Gough, municipal school inspector.

Mr. Gough submitted to the board the first part of a three-part study of school requirements in the next 20 years.

Main conclusions of this first part, dealing with estimated enrollments, were:

That the estimated total enrollment for the system as a whole will increase by more than 4,000 during the period from 1956 to 1960, by which time the total will exceed 20,000;

That in the junior high schools the enrollment is expected to be 5,400 by 1960, compared with 3,961 in 1955, an increase of 36 per cent, and the gain will tend to accelerate thereafter;

That in the senior high schools enrollment is expected to be about 3,500 by 1960. (Present enrollment is 1,981);

That by 1966, the senior high school enrollment will be almost double that of 1955.

For the second part of the study, dealing with actual classroom requirements, Greater Victoria school principals and trustees will go to work applying the general statistics obtained by Mr. Gough to individual regions of the district.

The third part has been filed in advance, "The Solution."

FOUR FACTORS

In estimating the future school population, Mr. Gough took four factors into consideration: the number of beginners entering Grade 1 each year; the number of children now in attendance who are passing through various grades of the system; casual gains or losses that occur during a year as families arrive or leave; and the numbers of students who drop out at certain levels.

"The increase in local school enrollment is related to the growth in urban population," he said. "For this reason, either an index of building permits issued in this area or other estimates of population could be used to predict school enrollments. However, a more direct approach to the problem is provided by statistics of children born to residents of Greater Victoria."

From birth and school entry statistics Mr. Gough determined that for every 100 babies born to Greater Victoria residents in a given year, 75 beginners enter school six years later.

Using this factor, the numbers of students attending schools now, and the known patterns of attendance, Mr. Gough arrived at his conclusions on future school population.

Construction of the new Colquitz junior high school, expected to be completed next September, will give trustees and principals a little time to work out a solution to the secondary-school problem.

The Colquitz school will ease the junior high school situation next year, Mr. Gough said in an interview, and will also take some of the load from the senior high school level, since Mount View grade 9 students will go to Colquitz.

At present, he said, junior high schools are at full capacity with the exception of Lansdowne, which could take another 120 pupils. The Colquitz school, however, will have 26 classrooms or teaching areas.

In the senior high schools, Mr. Gough said, "I think we'll have no difficulty next year."

Additions to Victoria, Esquimalt, Mount View and Mount Douglas high schools, he said, had kept them from reaching the saturation point.

Clerk Is Stuck With Heavy Tax

OTTAWA (CPI) — The income tax appeal board has rejected the appeal of an unidentified clerk, supporting his partly-paralyzed mother while his wife also worked, who wanted to be allowed the same tax deductions as when he was single.

In his written judgment, W. S. Fisher, who heard the case, said that before marriage the man was entitled to an exemption from taxable income of $2,000 and his fiancée $1,000. After marriage, however, although the wife was still entitled to a $1,000 reduction, the man was allowed only $1,400.

UNDER SPECIAL SECTION

Evidence was that the man, described by Mr. Fisher as a clerk with "a modest salary," in his unaided state came under a section of the Income Tax Act that says $2,000 may be deducted by a taxpayer who is:

"An unmarried person or a married person not supporting his spouse who maintained a self-contained domestic establishment and actually supported therein a person wholly dependent upon him and connected with him by blood relationship or marriage or adoption."

In 1951, however, the clerk married and his wife came to live in the house he rented for his mother and himself. Under his new income tax classification the clerk could deduct only $100 for his mother's dependency on him.

But about that time the mother was partly paralyzed by a stroke.

The clerk "incurred considerable expense in connection with his mother's illness," said Mr. Fisher. The medical costs

Traffic Toll Could Be Sharply Cut With Pedestrian Care, Say Officials

Last year's provincial traffic toll of 211 fatalities could have been reduced considerably—if pedestrians had paid more attention to "prevailing traffic" and had worn light-colored clothing when out after dark.

This fact was mentioned yesterday by George Lindsay, superintendent of motor vehicles, when calling upon all B.C. residents to help make Safe Driving Day a province-wide success Dec. 1.

He pointed out that 66 pedestrians were killed on B.C. highways during 1954 but added he did not attempt to excuse the motorist for this "unneeded slaughter."

"Too much hurry, not enough care, lack of consideration, and lack of courtesy towards others are the underlying causes of accidents," Mr. Lindsay said.

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UP) — Mrs. William Woodward Jr., pale and on the verge of collapse, Monday left the hospital where she had been confined since she shot her sportsman husband to death, and shortly afterward she was questioned by police for three hours.

She was hardly able to walk as she left Doctors' Hospital, in New York City, by limousine for Mineola to tell police how she mistook her husband for a prowler and shot in the dark.

Three hours after she entered the police station here she emerged supported by the arms of her doctor and lawyer. She was weeping and held a handkerchief to her face.

Supply and Demand

THE only serious cloud on Canada's economic horizon this year has been failure to find a world market for all of the wheat that the nation produced in abundance. There is point, then, to the submissions of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange before the Gordon economic inquiry last week. Canada should make an ally out of the law of supply and demand and not try to circumvent, said the Exchange. Using its own forecast for the next quarter of a century the organization predicted that continued growth of population in Canada, while developing an improved domestic market for grains, would still leave the nation with a large exportable surplus.

The corollary is that to sell abroad Canada must meet the terms and conditions prevailing on the world wheat market, in open competition with every other grain producer. The cash-on-the-barrelhead policy which led to a breakdown in overseas pool arrangements last year, may have to be abandoned if Canada wants to move its grain to market in one crop season; and not by fits and starts with intermittent stoppages which lead to glutted elevators and virtual suspension of exports. The grain exchange applied its argument on the law of supply and demand to Canada's domestic policies; holding that indiscriminate subsidizing of the growers was not a cure for the present situation.

The same law, however, has much wider implications. Whatever the wish may be, Canada will still be faced with the conditions that apply on the world wheat market from time to time. Now or a quarter of a century hence, Canadian grain will sell abroad when there is world demand for it and when it can be offered at a price that is competitive. It was failure to understand that which led to the breakdown in marketing chances last year and this. The United Kingdom, which is banker for much of the sterling bloc, abandoned the world pool, and up to the present time has not come back.

The most recent talks at Geneva, where representatives of some 60 nations canvassed the situation, have brought only a postponement of decision. Great Britain has declined to commit herself on a pool scheme until price and other terms have been made clear. Argentina and Russia have followed suit. It will be spring next year before the grain discussions at this level can come to a final decision, with no guarantee that it will provide the opening that Canada has been waiting for. Meanwhile three crop years have rolled back on the country, with unfortunate consequences to the grain growers. That experience renews an older lesson; it is that world markets set their own terms and if we are to trade there we must meet them. And that is the law of supply and demand.

The Vancouver By-Election

PREMIER BENNETT'S announced reason for not calling a quick by-election to fill the vacancy in the legislature does him credit, but the unfortunate effect of his decision is to leave an important constituency without full representation in the House for probably more than a year. If the seat is not filled before the session opening in mid-January and the practice of holding only one session a year is followed, it will be 1957 before the successful candidate can take part in the debates. That is a long time to wait for effective representation.

The vacancy was caused by the death of Mr. George Moxham, a Social Credit MLA for Vancouver Centre. Under the laws governing by-elections there is enough time to complete the strength of the Legislature before it meets for the 1956 session. Premier Bennett says, however, that the government "would be open to criticism, and rightly so," if it called a snap election. He added that the government wished all political parties to have plenty of time to contest the seat.

Sudden elections are not generally popular; and in this instance there is the complicating factor of the Christmas and

New Year celebrations. Nevertheless, it is debatable whether or not the convenience of the political parties should be given precedence over the filling of the House and Vancouver Centre's representation therein. All parties would enter an early election on equal terms, for this does not appear to be a case of the government being able to put itself in a more favorable position through use of the prerogative to set the date. A party which is wide awake and has its machinery working should be able to select a candidate and enter an election campaign at short notice. There are also several current issues which would make interesting campaign material.

In the circumstances, even though the year-end is an awkward time for a political contest, the premier might find the riding concerned receptive to the calling of an election in time for it to send a new member to the next session rather than a whole year later. If any party objected on the score of being taken unawares its officers and members would have only themselves to blame for failing to maintain their organization in a state of preparedness. A vigorous party should be ready to fight an election at the drop of the hat.

Cutting the Painter

VICTORIANS still smarting from what they consider to be scurvy treatment by the CPR steamship service will appreciate the feelings of the Clydeside, which has also come in for summary dismissal. That situation is worse than here; the port of Greenock has been dropped entirely from the CPR's calling list. At one stroke a marine link of ancient standing has been snapped, apparently with scant regard for the damage that will ensue. Henceforth not a single ship of the CPR's Atlantic fleet will touch port in Scotland; sailing up the Clyde is to be but a song on a wax record. Mount Stephen surely must be turning in his grave.

It was no wonder that Dame Flora MacLeod, as benign a lady as ever visited this city, felt moved the other night to ask those of her race to voice a protest against what she called a "retrograde and hurtful step." The diversion of all CPR passengers to Liverpool will be a bad blow to the tourist industry of Scotland, which that country badly needs, not to speak of the loss of port business to the Clydeside areas. It means also that many Canadians visiting the land of their birth or heritage cannot go directly there, a factor that will cause much annoyance in this country. There is distinct irony too in the fact that the very ships the Clyde built so well for the CPR are to be withheld from re-entering that famous waterway.

Current CPR policy seems to have dropped overboard all scruples about time-honored obligations and associations. As with Victoria and Vancouver for decades, Canada and Scotland have been linked almost immemorially by sailings to and from the St. Lawrence and the Clyde. The flow of traffic has been greatly to the benefit of both countries, which in any case have strong historical ties that warrant consideration. Lesser actions than this abrupt severance have on the diplomatic level been deemed an unfriendly action by one country against another. As an example of how to win friends and influence people the CPR is voyaging in strange waters these days.

Interpreting the News

Confusing the Public

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

THIS is a season in both domestic and foreign affairs when one has every right to be confused.

A friend of mine has a sign under the glass on top of his desk which reads: "If one can keep a level head in all this confusion one just doesn't understand the situation."

The difficulty, of course, lies not so much in the situations themselves as in the variety of official and semi-official opinion expressed regarding them.

Several courses are open to a man deluged with these opinions. He can believe nothing he hears and only half of what he sees. He can find, in the endless variety of expressions, almost anything that he wants to believe.

Or he can search for the motives of the pundits, political or otherwise, and try to refine a little sense out of a lot of opinion.

For instance, one of the chief Allied reasons for entering the late lamented negotiations with Russia at Geneva was to test Russian intentions. The tests revealed the intentions to be the same as usual—no agreements except on terms which would aid Communist expansion.

Yet President Eisenhower, U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and Premier Bulganin are all saying, in effect, that Geneva was only an initial failure, and that something good will come of it yet.

The British are being more realistic. Both during and since the foreign ministers' conference, word from them has indicated an acceptance of Molotov's lessons and the need for facing squarely a tough situation.

The same contrast is displayed by political approaches to international problems on the U.S. political front. Party spokesmen inject their own colored interpretations at the campaigns move into gear. It's always that way. It's only to be hoped that America's allies will recognize the hoopla for what it is.

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IT IS not true that an ostrich buries its head in the sand in the fond belief it cannot then be seen, although for 2,000 years we have been swallowing this myth.

Sometimes the poor bird is thirsty and is merely looking for water.

But for mankind the ostrich has become the symbol of folly. When Roosevelt was persuading America to become interested in the Hitler war he remarked: "America cannot be an ostrich with its head in the sand."

This was a slight inversion, for human imitation of the ostrich has more to do with pretending than with hiding. When we compare some individual with the largest of all living birds we usually mean he doesn't see what is at the end of his nose.

And invariably because he just won't see.

It is a common trait with things one does not like to pretend that they do not exist.

Once there was a New York editor who had his own ideas about Manhattan and he preferred not to have them disturbed. A reporter wrote a story and mentioned a hat shop on 42nd Street. The editor insisted there was no hat shop on this street. The reporter well knew there was but he went out to make sure.

And counted 13 hat shops in one block.

That made no difference. A colleague told him: "Of course there are hat shops on 42nd Street, but the editor doesn't feel hat shops belong on that street and there is nothing you or I can do to change his mind."

Now the chances are most of us are vulnerable to the same kind of inhibition, not perhaps about hat shops but about something else. Some people for instance do not like the changes which have come about in postwar Victoria and try to carry on as though these never occurred.

Some persons having an unwelcome relative coming to visit pretend up to the last day that he isn't coming, perhaps hoping in the interval he will fall and break his neck or something. It is only when the hated guest arrives that they pluck their heads out of the sand and face reality.

It is probably true to say that most people don't like unpleasant things, and it is fatally easy to ignore them with the wishful thought that somehow they will disappear just by pretending they are not real.

Hitler was emulating the ostrich when he refused to look behind the faces of the "decadent" English and so missed the virility that might have warned him.

Another angle of the ostrich theory is that subordinates are apt to hide bad news from their superiors if they think the latter are averse to hearing unpleasant truths. Time, the great dispenser, they hope, will make it unnecessary to upset his opinions.

In Hitler's case time caught up with him, but even now there are people who stick their heads in the sand when they think about Moscow.

It is always easier of course to advocate facing up to reality than it is to stand square with a "come one come all" look in your eye. The "Do It Now" notice you see behind some executive desks is not always to remind a forgetful memory; more often it is a hint not to shrink from a distasteful task.

The ostrich has another habit which has helped to defame its reputation. When it rests itself it sits down on folded wings, and its head and neck are stretched out close to the ground. This makes it difficult to identify from a distance, hence the belief that the bird thinks it cannot be spotted in this posture.

A rear view of anything is seldom enticing, however.

THERE'S no doubt about it, we Canadians do things in a big way. Like the way our government just rewarded four men for "bravery and devotion far beyond the call of duty" in averting what Transport Minister Marler said would have been "a major disaster."

What this quartette of Newfoundland fishermen did, in risking their lives and their ship to tow a blazing, gasoline-laden vessel out of Twillingate harbor, was an act of heroism worthy of the George Medal. They boarded the Winifred Lee in the face of erupting oil drums which presaged the ship's explosion, slipped her anchor, and towed her away from Twillingate. They got off the Winifred Lee just before she blew up harmlessly, without destroying the town.

The department of transport, never loath to reward heroism handsomely, has awarded $100 to Capt. Donald Manuel, and $50 each to Capt. Lester Andrews, Mate Leo Kean, and Christopher Sturge. Tax-free, too.

The size of the award raises the intriguing question of what put a value of $250 on the thriving outpost of Twillingate, population 1,066?

Was it Immigration Minister Jack Pickersgill, ever ready to boost the stock of the town he represents in parliament? Certainly not. If what the D.O.T. calls a "flaming catastrophe" had befallen Twillingate because of the explosion of the Winifred Lee, it does seem that it would cost more than $250 to repair the damage—as no doubt Pickersgill would be the first to assert.

Then was it the D.O.T.? Not according to top officials there. As one of them told me, "We're not trying to pay the men for what they did. The monetary value of this award is not related to the value of their feat, but rather is a recognition of their heroism. We're just trying to say they did a hell of a good job, and this is one way of doing so."

Then he referred me—rather unwisely, it turned out—to one of his subordinates who "knows all the answers." This official acted as though he hadn't the foggiest idea of what it was all about, but felt that he had to produce an answer because his boss expected him to. Here are his explanations of the awards: (1) "to foster people helping themselves"; (2) "to cover out-of-pocket expenses"—as, in this case, the use of the schooner Shirley Louise to tow the Winifred Lee—and (3) "to encourage the rendering of ready assistance in cases of this kind."

To top it all, he didn't know that the Newfoundlanders' heroism might win them the George Medal, or if anyone had thought to recommend them for it. Obviously he hadn't.

My inquiry as to where the $250 came from brought out the fact that it's contained in parliament's annual vote of funds to the D.O.T. I looked up the departmental estimates which parliament passed last spring, and sure enough, there it was: "Rewards for saving life, $250."

Well, one can't blame parliament for the inference in this case that Twillingate is worth only $250, but one can take the MPs to task for the ridiculously low ceiling they placed on rewards for valor. Two years ago the vote was $1,000, but Finance Minister Harris' economy axe cut it by 75 per cent.

"Don't blame us for being imprudent," one D.O.T. official pleaded. "I don't. At least they shot their whole wad on the four Newfoundlanders, while frankly admitting that $250 isn't nearly enough to match their bravery. But if anyone else has a mind to be brave between now and the end of the fiscal year, he'll have to be brave for nothing. D.O.T. won't get its next $250 till April 1."

Drowning in the 'Pools'

(Daily Colonist London Correspondent)

EVERY year nearly 1,000,000,000 postal items are transmitted to or from the "pools." Britain's legalized lotteries controlled by private enterprise, in which nearly half the population has a flutter every week.

The post-office derives a vast revenue from this traffic and earns a big sum from poundage on the postal orders which accompany the entries. The pools firms are by far the biggest individual customers in post office history.

The trouble is that pools correspondence is gumming up the works. Business correspondence is being delayed. Air mail which takes 16 hours to fly the Atlantic from Canada is often held up 48 hours after arrival—officially because of staff shortage. There are vacancies for tens of thousands of letter carriers (they used to be called postmen).

Much of the congestion is caused by pools correspondence. Business men are complaining. The post office is apologetic. The Union of Post Office Workers is rebelling. It says pools correspondence is causing unnecessary hardship through over-time.

Faced with the annual Christmas crisis in mails the post office may be forced to ask the pools to suspend operations during the Christmas period—but that is only part of the problem. The simple fact is that Britain's gambling is delaying Britain's business.

The possibility of charging increased rates for pools correspondence—a differential tax on gamblers—to enable the post office to offer higher wages to attract staff has been dismissed as administratively impossible under present conditions, but what is to be done is still obscure. It is just a mounting mountain of a problem.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

The call goes out to parents to devote more time to their children, provoking a sardonic laugh from the young mother next door, who says that she's lucky to get a 15-minute lunch break from that particular assignment as it is.

A scientist says that some of the miracle drugs may actually make a common cold last longer. This is about the best thing science has done for a long time to help out the fellow who likes to take a week off from work now and then.

Two workmen were having lunch. One opened his lunch box and took out a sandwich, saw that it was peanut butter and tossed it away. The next was meat, which he ate. Then another peanut butter which he tossed away. As he started another meat sandwich his pal asked, "Sam, how long have you been married?"

"Fifteen years," was the reply. "Well," said the pal, "I certainly would expect that in 15 years your wife would have discovered that you don't like peanut butter."

"You leave my wife out of this," replied Sam. "I made those sandwiches myself."

About the only aspect of Hitler's death that strikes us as being of any interest is whether or not it was permanent.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

AN artist called on me with a big portfolio filled with examples of his work. He wanted to know how he could break into the cartooning game. He is a man of 30 who has mastered drawing to the highest degree of perfection and style, and it is obvious he is a really gifted draughtsman. He has made a good living as a commercial artist.

But as he laid out his work before me, he wanted to know why he couldn't get into the much more profitable and exciting profession of cartooning for the newspapers and magazines. There is a bigger demand for cartoons, he told me, than ever before.

He then produced a sheaf of cartoons he had clipped from the papers and magazines, and asked me to compare the drawing in them with his work.

"Some of these," he declared, "are terrible. A child could draw better than that. It looks to me if these people had never even studied art. Yet you see they are well-known names, they work regularly, get their stuff published week after week..."

"I suppose it is their ideas," I suggested.

"I'm told," cut in the artist, "that they buy their ideas from other people. They can't draw. They haven't got any ideas of their own. Yet they are successful!"

"It doesn't seem fair, does it?" I sympathized.

He bundled his beautiful drawings back in the portfolio and told me I hadn't been much help to him.

But how can you explain to an earnest, even a gifted man, that in the mysterious field of entertainment there is no rhyme or reason to success. A thousand cartoonists draw; a thousand singers sing; ten thousand actors act; and two or three dozen of them catch the public fancy.

Power in the Waters

By THOMAS R. HENRY
Science Editor, North American Newspaper Alliance

THE world's rivers have a potential of more than 3,000,000,000 horsepower, or about 2,500 times what now is realized from them.

This would be the case if all technically feasible sites were utilized, according to a summary of the earth's power resources just issued by the U.S. Geological Survey. In the past 30 years, however, world-wide water power installations have increased nearly sixfold, according to the survey.

The installed capacity of all the water power plants of the world, the survey reports, now is about 130,000,000 horsepower, with 27 per cent of the total, or about 35,000,000 horsepower, located in the United States. This comes close to the country's capacity.

"The mean flow of the world's streams," the survey says, "would produce about 3,000,000,000 horsepower if all physically feasible sites were developed. In the United States the corresponding figure for mean flow is 116,000,000 horsepower. Mean flow water power potential amounts to 38 horsepower per square mile in this country. For the countries of the world as a whole the square mile potential ranges between lows of near nothing to a high of 531 horsepower in Switzerland."

"By utilizing the gross head at known sites but without further regulation the low flow of streams in the United States could produce 36,500,000 horsepower. However, by regulating streams at reservoir sites where construction is physically feasible it is estimated that this low flow potential could be doubled. The three Pacific states possess about 42 per cent of the nation's water power resources and with the Rocky Mountain area nearly 65 per cent."

Russia, the report says, supposedly has many plants under construction. All the countries of western Europe, as well as Australia, New Zealand and several South American countries, are now constructing new plants and conducting water-resources studies at an unprecedented rate.

"The largest unsurveyed areas, as well as those with the greatest water power resources," the survey says, "are central Africa and northern Asia. The former, because of heavy rainfall, undoubtedly has immense resources and the need for cheap power in large amounts for metallurgical purposes will undoubtedly lead to utilization of some of the sites. In northern Asia there are large rivers but, except at the headwaters, the precipitation is low and probably not well distributed through the year."

Sewage Plants Too Costly

From statements in the press I understand the mayor is suggesting a treating plant for disposal of sewage in augment or replace the over-taxed and objectionable present Victoria outlets. It is extremely doubtful if this is a practical suggestion due not only to the expense but to the fact that it would be probably necessary to go miles out to find a suitable location.

The Saanich reeve has, I understand, stated that it is proposed to construct treating plants to care for sewage requirements from such locations as the proposed developments at Burnside and Tillicum and the Rithet estate at Royal Oak, as the Saanich system now being installed is

It is doubtful if this suggestion is practical due to the heavy costs of construction and maintenance and also due to the fact that to obtain anything like a clear effluent the added cost would be prohibitive and further pollution of Portage Inlet would inevitably result.

A few years ago, before Saanich started on its piecemeal system, the well-known Vancouver engineer, A. D. Creer, suggested that most of the Victoria and Saanich sewage be collected near Tillicum and discharged through a single tunnel at Saxe Point. If this suggestion had been listened to and the authorities had been a little more far-sighted we might not now be in the predicament in which we find ourselves, and it may prove even at this late date, with all the added expense, that this may be the correct solution.

Clean Plate To Start

In the dispute on the penal problem and connected with it the problem of delinquency, why not take for a basis an old-time theory that every child's soul is a "tabula rasa" (clean plate).

On this plate life makes its impressions and by this makes a character of the future citizen. It can be compared with the photographic plate which can be of a better kind or worse (heredity). The impression on it could be of good or bad subject (environment) and it depends on the operator, i.e., home, school, books, church, friends, etc.

Humane Animal Slaughter

I was glad to see letters regarding the present horrible method used in the slaughtering of animals.

This outdated method has been used for over a 100 years without any advancement of a more humane method to lessen the fear and suffering of the animals. This bludgeoning to death, and an even more cruel method is used in the slaughtering of pigs and sheep, is a blot on civilization.

I hope all people who are interested in animal welfare will do everything possible to demand a more humane method be used in the slaughtering of animals. I believe Canada to be about the last country to use this outdated, horrible method. Surely this is nothing to our credit.

I would suggest the same humane method as is used in England.

Reduced to Squalor

You are to be congratulated for bringing up the old-age pension dilemma injustice. Having made continuous requests to the government to establish "benefits" will in all cases be provided as a matter of right, without any results, we who have worked for this legislation from 1927 were glad to have the principle established at $40 but money values have changed and cost of living has gone out of sensible balance.

The legislation should be revamped, with senators and prime ministers and millionaires excluded and an income basis made to meet fluctuating prices.

Pressure and more pressure will need to be resorted to until those in authority realize the misery and squalor some of Canada's best pioneers are subjected to.

Benefit Concert Excellent

I would be grateful if you would allow a good music lover a little space for a word of thanks.

Words are inadequate to express my appreciation of the excellent performance of the recent recital given by the choir at St. John's Anglican church in aid of Dr. Albert Schweitzer's medical mission in Africa.

I doubt if greater talent can be found anywhere in Victoria, and in writing this I feel I am expressing the opinions of many others.

Hospital Not Closed

I have had forwarded to me a copy of your paper dated Nov. 11 in which you state that the "Montreal General hospital has been closed to all except emergency surgical cases because of the staph infection, which hits people whose resistance is low."

I would like to point out that this statement is entirely incorrect. The Montreal General hospital is not closed and, in fact, our beds are filled to capacity.

Certainly there has been no staph infection in the hospital.

Milk Shake-Up Needed

It is indeed refreshing that Mr. Justice J. V. Cline after mature consideration has now shown that a lot of milk board regulation which we have suffered from for many years is after all unnecessary.

We have simply been led up a blind alley and now must go back to the old reliable competitive system, which after all is the only thing that will give the man on the street a fair deal so long as combines are not allowed.

For 10 years myself and others here have "fought" for cash and carry milk at cash and carry prices, much to the displeasure of the distributors, milk drivers and even the producers. They never had a reasonable argument against it, but will interest prompted their opposition, even though, as Mr. Justice Cline points out, the only way to increase consumption is to keep the cost down to the consumers.

Vancouver Island is now producing plenty of milk, the producers are getting a higher price than on the mainland. There has been no real objection to a slightly higher price in Victoria but the treatment the consumers have been getting has been most unfair, as the commission report shows.

Another sufferer is the store-keeper. For years he has had to handle milk on one cent a quart (1% gross profit), handle and return bottles as well as supplying refrigeration. The whole thing badly needed a shake-up.

Now we should be able to buy milk in cartons if we so desire—but not at 25 cents, thank you.

HERE'S HOW

Your 2 Billion Dollars

OIL THE WHEELS OF PROGRESS

In a thousand ways, the money you have on deposit at the B of M is working for you and for Canada... creating new opportunities for Canadian enterprise and new jobs for Canadians in every calling.

Yes, in all fields of Canadian endeavour, your savings are helping finance projects large and small... supplying much of the money necessary for growth and expansion of our industry and commerce.

Let's take a look at the facts behind the figures in the B of M's annual report for 1955, and see how your money—in the form of loans and investments—oils the wheels of progress:

At the end of the Bank's year, October 31, 1955, over two million Canadians had on deposit at the B of M the sum of $2,591,326,311—the highest year-end total on record.

Although much of this money belongs to institutions and business firms, more than half of these deposits represent the personal savings of Canadians in every walk of life... savings that are bringing benefits to you and to Canada.

The money you save at the B of M is helping to ensure our country's expansion and progress—in the form of loans to Canadian farmers, miners, fishermen, oil men, lumbermen and ranchers; to industrial and business enterprises; to Provincial and Municipal Governments; and to salaried people in all walks of life. As of October 31, B of M loans totalled $1,057,444,001—the highest in the Bank's history. In untold ways, these dollars are contributing dynamically to the maintenance and improvement of our standard of living.

At the close of the year, the B of M had $975,361,319 invested in high-grade government bonds and other public securities which have a ready market. This money is helping to finance government projects for the betterment of the country and the welfare of Canadians at large. Other securities held by the Bank—which include a diversified list of high-quality short-term industrial issues—bring total investments to $1,214,559,875.

THE MONEY YOU DEPOSIT

THE MONEY WE LEND

THE MONEY WE INVEST

The message these figures express is a confident and encouraging one. Actually, it is your message... for it is made possible by your savings.

Girls' Arrest Ends Phone Nightmare

WINNETKA, Ill. (AP)—A hearing is scheduled Friday for two young girls who created a four-month nightmare for a middle-aged couple in this Chicago suburb.

During this period Maurice Franks' phone, 56, and his wife, Violet, received seven to 10 anonymous calls a day. Once there were calls and implicated another girl.

"We did it just as a prank."

Many of the calls concerned de-police quoted them as saying,

Stocks Decline

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market moved down around 3 points at the worst while gains went to about a point.

Du Pont dropped 9 1/2, at 228 1/2 after directors declared a year-end dividend of $3 as against $2.50 a year ago.

The market was a trifle higher at the start, but it turned mixed and was around its lowest point at the finish. Rails and coppers at one time did well, but they ended lower. Nevertheless, those two divisions together with oils maintained some good gains.

Coppercorp headed losing base metals, dropping 55 cents to $1.75 on $2.50 shares. Seniors were fractionally poorer, down 1/4.

Gold advanced a small index advance. Preston East

Dome added 20 at $7.10.

Papers Weaken

MONTREAL (CP)—Major fractional losses featured all sections of the industrial list at the close of mid trading on the stock market Monday. Mines and western oils moved narrowly lower in dealings.

Aluminum and consolidated

smelters carried the base metals to lower ground, each slipping a point.

Papers settled lower with Fraser

Paper Brothers and Consolidated

each 1/2 point easier. Quarter to half-point losses ruled the beverage and utility groups while

Algonia Steel dropped 3 points in its section.

Miscellaneous issues were generally 1/2 point easier, while refining oils, carriers and banks were unchanged to 1/4 lower.

The few active mines included

Canadian Lithium, down 8 cents,

Merrill off 5 cents and Fontana off

1/4 cents.

Quatino Higher

VANCOUVER—A softer tone was noted all round and business shrank perceptibly. Declines, however, were fractional in nature and isolated gains were recorded.

Quatino copper was up 4 cents, at 36 cents, and Grandeur recovered to 36 1/2 after being 36.

Canadian Collieries after dipping to 31 1/2 ended fractionally lower at

$13 1/2, while B.C. Forest Products at 51 1/2, Pacific Paper at 51 1/2 and MacMillan at 42 1/2 edged lower.

DIVIDEND RESUMED

Although business in the textile industry in Canada is still pretty rough, the directors of Dominion Textiles announced yesterday a resumption of dividend payments.

A distribution of 20 cents a share will be made on December 15.

United Island Effort Sought In Drive for Freight Relief

The B.C. Federation of Labor (C.F.L.) will seek the co-operation of all interested Vancouver Island groups to press for reductions in what it terms "excessive freight rates" to the Island.

The federation acted on the suggestion of Victoria local 1112 International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, during the annual convention last weekend at Vancouver.

In its resolution, the local said Vancouver Island "has the doubtful honor of having the highest cost of living in the Dominion."

The federation also moved against persons holding two jobs. It wants provincial and federal legislation prohibiting employers from hiring anyone otherwise employed full-time.

The convention also recommended a 1944 policy recommending unions press for a 30-hour work week of five six-hour days.

DECISION REVERSED

It reversed a decision of some years ago, agreeing to the principle of forest management licence only upon the condition that a company qualifying for a licence include in its own holdings.

The convention re-elected all officers, including Robert Smeal, Victoria CBRE, as third vice-president.

Rock-Bound Seiner Now Being Repaired

The 30-foot seiner North Pacific will be on the ways at the McKay-Cormack wharf the rest of this week after sustaining considerable damage when she ran onto Big Zero rock off Cordova Bay late Saturday.

The vessel, owned by Capt. Morgan Berge of Prince Rupert, was refloated at high tide Sunday morning by the Island Tug and Barge Ltd. tug Island Despatcher.

REPAIRS NEEDED

Stowboard planks must be replaced and keel damage repaired. Captain Berg said she had checked the echo sounder, then stepped on deck to check whether the men in that union are attending to their organization."

He urged all members of the federation to attend as many local meetings of their union as possible.

Mr. Wicks said the government has aided the unemployed by providing work at a time when some men normally would be employed.

Target in Sight Chest Officials Say

Hopes of Community Chest officials that the 1955 campaign would reach its $210,000 goal rose yesterday with "very gratifying" first-day response to the emergency appeal to Chest supporters.

Letters sent to 19,569 residents of Greater Victoria last week asked for donations of $1 or more to put the drive over the top, and in one day almost $300 was received.

Campaign total is now just a few dollars short of the $186,000 mark, or $2,800 more than at this time a year ago.

Chest officials said the emergency appeal has brought in two cheques for $50, and a donation of $1 from a woman who moved here from Winnipeg recently.

Two pensioners who gave their "last dollar" to the drive early this month did so again, and their daughter contributed another dollar.

Young Inmates Smother Sleeping Boy

NAPA, Calif. (UP)—Napa State Hospital officials said Monday three young boy inmates admitted suffocating a 13-year-old fellow patient as he lay sleeping.

The boys were not identified. They were said to be 11, 12 and 14 years of age.

Dr. Theo K. Miller, superintendent of the mental institution, said the three boys admitted smothering Robert R. Yarak of San Jose with several blankets.

The only motive for their actions was supplied by the 14-year-old. "Bobby reminded me of my father and mother," he said. "I hated them both."

The boy's death brought to three the number of murders in the last three months involving hospital inmates.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleaner that keeps false teeth—and breath—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules:

1. Never use a brush on them! Your denture plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.
2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."
3. Use a soaking-type cleaner made for false teeth only... Polident! Polident is the denture cleaner recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

Hit-Run Drivers Injure Two

When Theresa M. Hale, 3254 Wicklow, was knocked to the pavement by a car Saturday, she suffered a broken leg and multiple cuts and bruises. And someone walked off with her wallet.

Police said last night six persons were injured in weekend accidents—two of them by hit-and-run drivers.

Miss Hale's lost wallet contained $10 in cash. Police said the car involved in the accident was driven by Robert Green, 17, of 841 Selkirk.

Henry B. Sayward, 780 Dominion, suffered a broken leg and pelvic injuries about 11 p.m. Sunday when his motorcycle and sidecar was in collision with the car of Gordon McLean, Errington.

The accident occurred on the new Island Highway at the Saanich-Colwood boundary. He is in fair condition at Royal Jubilee.

Miss V. Pearson, 834 Courtney, suffered a shoulder injury when struck as she attempted to avoid a car at Blanshard and Broughton. She said the car did not stop. Sunday afternoon at Kings Glen Lake.

and Fifth Mrs. Fred Allen, 66, 703 Pine, suffered lacerations over her right eye. She was a passenger in her husband's car, which was in collision with the vehicle of Joseph R. Barnsley, Sunday afternoon at Kings Glen Lake.

And do you often cut yourself shaving—all because your bathroom mirror casts shadows? Then why not have bright, even lighting in your bathroom? It's easy! Just put three fixtures around your bathroom mirror. This lights up the whole room and wife can make-up or hubby can shave without bothersome shadows. Here's all you do:

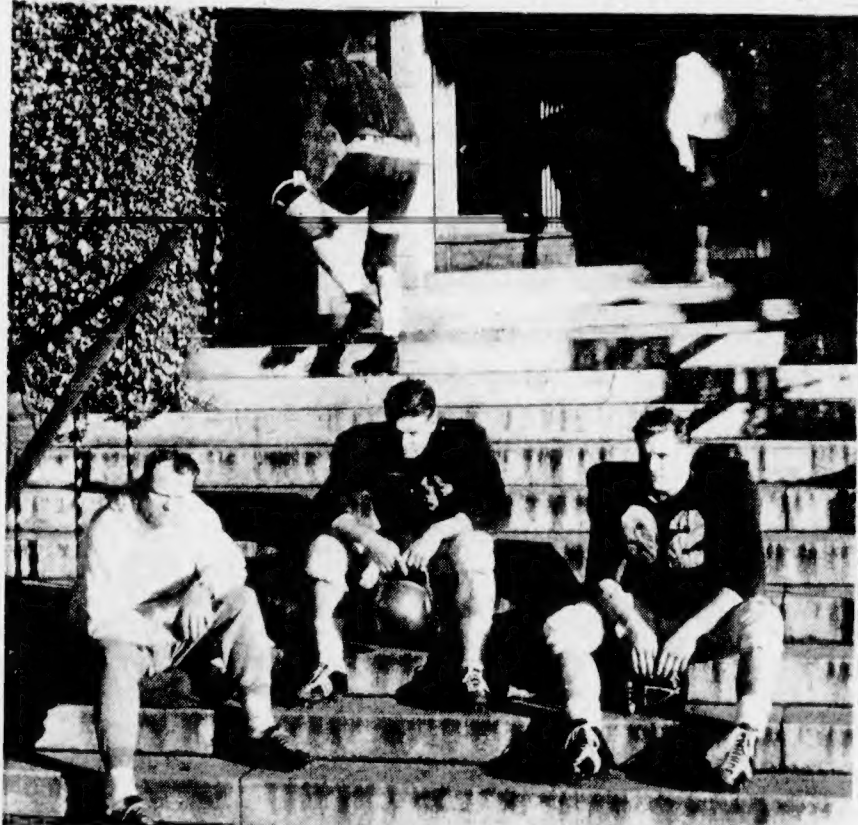

For your three fixtures, use either fluorescent tubes or incandescent bulbs. If you use fluorescent tubes, get 15-watt or 20-watt deluxe warm white color. If you prefer incandescent bulbs, use 60-watt bulbs with opal glass shades, or 60-watt luminaires.

And now to place these fixtures around your mirror! Put one fixture on each side of the mirror—about 15 inches from the centre, making sure their vertical centres are 60 inches above the floor. You put the third fixture on the ceiling centred above the mirror and 12-18 inches from the wall.

Eskimos Enjoy Victoria's Sunshine, Worry Over Injured Burris

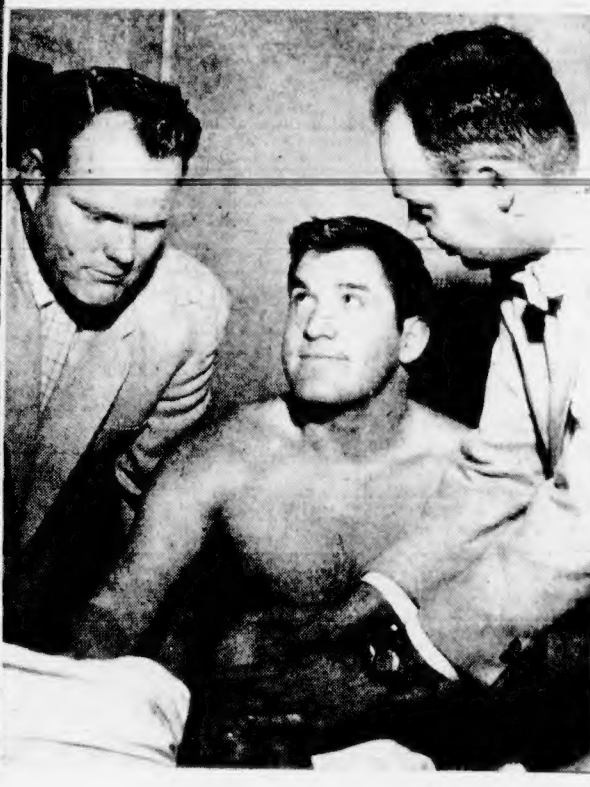

Things were a bit different than usual around the Empress hotel yesterday and were also somewhat changed for Edmonton Eskimos, the reigning Grey Cup champions who meet Montreal Alouettes in the annual football classic at Vancouver Saturday. Burly, stocking-footed players moved through hotel corridors and lobby on their way to and from practices at Royal Athletic park and most of them, finding the weather a welcome change from the near-zero temperatures they left Sunday morning, paused for a few moments to enjoy the sunshine after lacing on their cleated boots in front of the main entrance. However, there are also a few worries in the Eskimo camp, biggest of which is probably the injury which threatens to keep Kurt Burris, the former All-American from Oklahoma,

Esks Brushing Up On Pass Defence In Final Practices

By IAN GLENDAY

Edmonton Eskimos got down to the serious business of covering from charity-horse working out a defence that will stop the accurate passing of Montreal quarterback Sam "The Rifle" Etcheberry yesterday by hind locking gates on the turf to the required number of 10 of Royal Athletic park.

Holding a brisk, two-hour workout that was closed to the public, the Eskies were drilled on defensive alignments by mind until the deadline a half-coach Frank "Pop" Ivy and hour before Saturday's game. Eagle Keys that were aimed at crippling the powerful offence of the Eastern grid champion Alouettes.

Keys scouted the Montreal Toronto game last Saturday and came back with a wealth of material which he was putting to use yesterday afternoon. The players also saw movies of Big Four games involving the Alouettes before they went to dinner last night.

Thirty-three players worked out under Ivy with guard Jim Quondamatto, a guard who has been in hospital for several days for observation of a back ailment, and rookie lineman Jack Lamb left behind in Edmonton.

BURRIS DOUBTFUL. Physically, Edmonton is in good shape except for allstar centre Kurt Burris, chosen to the Canadian Press defensive and offensive all-star teams. The big Oklahoma lineman suffered a pulled knee ligament in the last game of the WFLU final and Ivy still isn't certain whether or not Burris will be in the lineup on Grey Cup day in Vancouver Saturday.

Burris, his knee swollen and limping a bit, went to a city hospital for heat treatment yesterday and it probably won't be known until just before game time whether he will see action.

Lauder Rink Unbeaten After Two Days' Play In Grey Cup Bonspiel

BY JIM TANG

VANCOUVER — Vancouver Island rinks made a good showing during the first two days of the Giant Totem (Grey Cup) bonspiel, which will see 148 rinks conclude play in eight events in time for curlers to attend the Grey Cup dinner Friday night.

Up to late draws Monday night, the 11 Island rinks entered had won 24 of 36 games and seven were still alive in the two primary competitions, the Totem and Evergreen events.

Two of the Island rinks, Gerry Lauder of Victoria and Jack Coates of Parksville, were still undefeated and alive in both primaries. Lauder had won four games and Coates, scheduled for his fourth on a late Monday draw, had won three.

SKIPPED BY GUTOSKI

Lauder defeated Jack Diamond and George McCord, both of Vancouver, to reach the 6th of the Totem event. The Victoria rink, which is skipped by Tony Gutoski, downed Ken Fulk of Peachland and W. O. Harper of Dawson Creek to reach the 32s in the Evergreen event.

Coates bested Vancouver rinks skipped by Lou Chase and Ron Markin in the Totem competition and ousted Glen Walker of Victoria in the Evergreen event.

Tony Folk of Duncan, Walkey and Dr. H. A. Bowker of Ladysmith were also left in the Totem event. Folk defeated Lou Golka of Hardisty and Gerry Nicolson of New Westminster but lost his first game when beaten by Billy Rose, former Briar champion from Sedgewick, Alberta.

UPSETS ALBERTANS

Dr. Bowker upset two highly-rated Alberta rinks, F. J. Lee of Stettler and Rose in the Totem, then defeated J. G. Thompson of Edmonton in his first game in the Evergreen before having his winning streak snapped by Edmonton's D. Dalquist.

Walkey moved ahead in the Totem by defeating C. D. Munro of Salmon Arm and then upset the Winnipeg rink skipped by Bill Nairn, former football star and now a WFLU official. Walkey lost to Coates in his first game in the Evergreen competition.

In addition to Lauder and Coates, Dr. Kirby Moysiey of Victoria and George Lunn of Nanaimo are Island rinks still left in the Evergreen event.

Moysiey's rink, skipped by Gordie Robertson, moved ahead at the expense of Al Peters of New Westminster and A. D. Vance of Prince Rupert. In the Totem event, Moysiey won his first game against Bob Dealy of Bralorne but lost next time out to Alex Maxwell of Seelye, Saskatchewan.

Dick Irvin's Drake Hotelmen snapped Nanaimo Clippers' win streak at five games last night by downing the league leaders 6-3, in their Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey League game at Memorial Arena.

Only 298 fans were on hand to watch a game that showed all the prospects of a brawl in the first 20 minutes, then settled down into a fairly close and well-contested contest. Six penalties were handed out in the first period, including two misconducts and a pair of majors.

STIFFEST SENTENCE

Nanaimo winger Don Ashbee took the stiffest sentence of all. The fiery forward was given a 10-minute misconduct penalty, then was suspended indefinitely when he hit referee Johnny Rury.

Kwong, Coulter Also Honored

Abbruzzi Rated Nation's Top Player

MONTREAL (BUP)—Pat Abbruzzi and Tex Coulter, a pair of Montreal Alouettes mainstays, and plugging Normie Kwong of the defending national champion Edmonton Eskimos, were the winners of the three top individual awards in Canadian professional football, it was learned Monday by the British United Press.

The awards are made by a national distillery and are announced each year the day before the Grey Cup game. But reliable sources disclosed last night that Abbruzzi, Coulter and Kwong were the selections of the country's sports writers, radio and television sportscasters for the coveted awards.

Abbruzzi, a compact animated fireplug from Rhode Island state, won the Scheeney Trophy as the outstanding professional player in Canada, an award that carries a cheque for $1,000 with it. Coulter, a giant veteran tackle of both Canadian and American pro leagues, was named the top lineman of the year, and Kwong, Edmonton's driving fullback who set a modern professional running record by amassing 1,250 yards in 16 games this year, was the selection as the top Canadian-bred football player.

Unofficial statistics showed Abbruzzi actually gained 1,277 yards in 12 games for the Big Four champion Alouettes, but discrepancy of 29 yards in the final game deprived him of a new record and he officially finished with 1,248 yards, an average per carry mark of 6.9 yards. The 190-pound, 5ft. 8in. left halfback from Warren, R.I., playing his first year of pro ball, scored 19 touchdowns, an all-time Canadian mark, but was just shaded for the league scoring title by Toronto's place-kicking end, Al Pfeiffer.

The squat Montreal star, who looks more like baseball's Yogi Berra than a pile-driving half-back, grew up in the shadow of Alouettes.

Winnipeggers Donate $600, Feed Toronto Football Fans

More than 200 Toronto football fans en route to Vancouver ate a "business men's lunch" Monday at Winnipeg with a group of Winnipeggers, which included a band of shivering angels and Bay Street money-baggers who headed down Lee-covered Main Street in 12-above-zero weather to the city hall.

The visitors then marched to the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and interrupted trading for 10 minutes as they milled about the pit, let by the pipe band. The grain men joined in a square dance and applauded as cheer leaders turned hand-springs on the trading floor.

A Vancouver clothing firm is backing the Edmonton Eskimos to the hill. Clothier Murray Goldman said he would cut prices on suits and topcoats by $1 for every point the Eskimos scored against Montreal next Saturday.

The only public sale of Grey Cup tickets in Vancouver will get under way Wednesday morning when an undisclosed number of standing-room tickets will be offered by the British Columbia Lions.

Grey Cup parade committee chairman Frank Baker said Monday a half-ton of confetti would be distributed to downtown office buildings to be showered on the parade Saturday morning.

The Dominion public weather office has made an exhaustive study of weather conditions for the past 50 years and it came up with the following information as to weather for Grey Cup day: average temperature 44 and 50 degrees with odds for rain 3 to 1 against more than one-quarter inch.

Teams from Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Kitchener-Waterloo, Regina, Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver are sending their representatives for the Miss Grey Cup contest. The girls are scheduled to arrive in Winnipeg.

Als Practice in Snow While Coach Worries

MONTREAL (UPI)—Coach Douglas (Peehead) Walker sent his players to practice in a snow-covered field for a workout Monday, obviously more concerned about his injured players than he was about Montreal's first snowfall of the winter.

Five players came out of Saturday's eastern football final with an assortment of injuries suffered in Alouettes' close 38-36 win over Toronto Argonauts.

Walker wasn't reaching for any crying towels, nor would he say that any of the five would not be ready to start in the Grey Cup game Saturday in Vancouver. But he was plain that Walker would like to have all hands in top shape for the remaining workouts.

Assistant coach Jimmy Dunn ticked off the injured list.

Jaques Belec, sprained shoulder, an injury that caused his removal from Saturday's game; Johnny Blaicher, groin injury; J. C. Carline, sprained ankle; Hal Patterson, severe body bruise in the side; Jim Sison, injured elbow that swelled considerably.

HURT WHEN TACKLED

First Blaicher and then Bill Bewley took over from Belec at fullback in Saturday's game. Belec was hurt early in the third quarter after he and Pat Abbruzzi had spearheaded a series of ground plays that carried the ball deep into Toronto territory. Alouettes failed to score when Sam Etcheberry sent a third-down pass to Belec, who was downed on the one-yard line. It was in this play that Belec was hurt.

Alouettes have one more practice before leaving for Vancouver. They will work out this afternoon and then leave by chartered plane at 7 a.m. EST Wednesday. The plane is scheduled to make a stop at Winnipeg.

Cougars File Protest; Test Canucks Tonight

Victoria Cougars, who get a results of a protest filed in chance to move back into a tie Western Hockey league position with Vancouver when they meet Den Al leader following Saturday's game at the mainland today's game at Seattle will prove night, are hoping today that in their favor.

Although no decision is expected to be reached until sometime next week, the Cougars filed a written protest, accompanied by the required $100 cheque, to leader over what they believed to be "errors of interpretation" of rules 42F, 66A and 66B by referee Blair Peters.

Cougars dropped a 3-2 decision to the Americans in overtime Saturday night and club officials feel that Peters' interpretations weakened the team and might have cost them the game.

STAYED NEAR BENCH

The hassle started with less than two minutes remaining in regulation time when Seattle coach Billy Reay took after Victoria defenseman Bill Davidson as Davidson entered the penalty box. Davidson received a 10-minute misconduct penalty while Reay was banished from the bench but was granted permission from Peters to sit in a section adjacent to the Seattle bench.

Cougar officials claim that Victoria should not have received the only team penalty when players from both clubs gathered around the hassle at the penalty box, that Reay incited Davidson to incur a penalty, and that Reay should not have been allowed to sit near the Seattle bench.

NEW YORK (AP)—Chicago's astounding Bears wrapped up their sixth straight victory to take undisputed possession of first place in the western conference of the National Football League Sunday while the battle for the eastern conference lead remained a nip-and-tuck tussle between Cleveland's defending Browns and Washington's surprising Redskins.

The Bears turned back Detroit Lions 24-14 to post a 63 record as Los Angeles Rams lost a chance to keep pace by playing a 17-17 tie with Baltimore Colts. The tie left the Rams with a record of 5-3-1.

Cleveland rebounded from last week's defeat by Philadelphia Eagles by romping over Pittsburgh Steelers 41-14. But the Redskins remained only a game back as they shut out Chicago Cardinals 31-0.

New York Giants jumped into a third-place tie with Pittsburgh in the eastern conference with a surprise 31-7 whipping of the Eagles. Green Bay remained in contention for the western title by edging San Francisco 49ers 27-21.

BLUE OPEN GAME

In posting their seventh victory in nine games, the Browns broke open a close game in the last half on a great display of passing by Otto Graham and George Ratterman and some flashy running by Curly Morison.

Harlon Hill, an elusive end, picked off tosses of 20 and 40 yards from Ed Brown for his seventh and eighth touchdowns of the season to bring the Bears from a 14-10 halftime deficit.

Graham, although knocked for a 32-yard total loss on an attempted pass play, tossed two touchdown aerials to Dante Lavelli, one for six yards and another for 41, and scored another himself on an end run. George Shaw, rookie Baltimore quarterback, was alternately the star and the goat in the six games.

28-yard pass to Jim Mutscheller in the last quarter put the Colts ahead 17-10. But then he fumbled on his 16 and the Rams went for the tying touchdown.

Royal Roads Cadets Win Junior Grid Title

Royal Roads Cadets won the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League playoff title Sunday afternoon by defeating their arch-rivals, HMCS Venture cadets, 15-10, at HMCS Naden field.

Roads, which was drubbed, 45-6, by the Venture squad in the first inter-service game of the season, gained the upper hand in the bitter feud with Venture as the result of Sunday's contest. The teams have now met three times, with the Royal Roads team emerging with a victory in two of the encounters.

First triumph for the service college came on Thanksgiving Day, when it won the Hubbard Trophy by scoring a 6-5 victory.

BINNIE STARKY Quarterback Ron Binnie again proved to be the difference Sunday, scoring one touchdown and booting a field goal and a convert for a nine-point effort. J. McIntosh scored both of the Venture majors.

Touchdowns by Binnie and Doug Brown, plus a field goal by Binnie, got the winners off to a 15-3 halftime lead after McIntosh romped across for his first major score for Venture. McIntosh closed the gap to 15-10 when he skirted around left end for a touchdown in the third quarter, but Venture was unable to put together another scoring attack.

The scheduled Gladwell Trophy game between Oak Bay Drakes and Vampires was postponed Sunday because of field conditions at Duncan.

PRINCE TAKING NO CHANCES; ARRIVES EARLY Prince Mia Via is taking no chances of missing his date with Don Kindred in the main event of this week's professional wrestling card at Victoria Ballroom Thursday night.

Mia Via, who was unable to appear against Kindred as scheduled on last week's program when, along with Bob Wagner, George Scott and Ken Kenneth, he was stalled for four hours by icy road conditions on the Malahat, will arrive in Victoria Wednesday.

Tex McKenzie and Al "Murder" Mills, who have been re-matched in Thursday's semi-main event, are also due to arrive a day early.

Opening this week's card at 8:30 will be a bout between Kenneth and Irish Jack Dillon.

PORTUGAL DEFEATED LISBON (AP)—Sweden defeated Portugal 6-2 Sunday before 60,000 fans here in the first international soccer game between the two countries. The teams were tied 1-1 at the half.

SECOND TIME The league-leading Canadiens, getting their fifth tie in their last 11 games, lost high-scoring Bernie Geoffrion with a shoulder separation for the second time this season. However, club officials announced Monday that Geoffrion won't need to undergo surgery and will be back in the lineup sooner than the original estimate of five weeks.

Geoffrion, the NHL scoring champion last season who missed 10 of the first 11 games this year, suffered separations of both shoulders in addition to torn chest, rib and back

Red Malayan Terror Attack Spurs Resumption of War

SINGAPORE (AP)—Malayan Communist forces were today fighting a bitter battle with British troops in the Cameron Highlands, a mountainous area in the north of Malaya.

The British were reported to have been forced to an attack by a band of 100 terrorists Sunday against a village in the Cameron Highlands area north of Kuala Lumpur, capital of the Malayan Federation.

It came at a time when the government was expected to announce the resumption of hostilities with the Communists.

Duncan Man Dead, His Brother Hurt Following Crash

DUNCAN—One man was instantly killed and another seriously injured in a collision Sunday at the intersection of Campbell River road and Main street.

The crash occurred when the car he was driving skidded on an icy road getting intersection and crashed into a bus stop, snapping it off near the ground.

His brother, Harry, suffered serious head injuries and was taken to the hospital.

An inquest will be held later this week by Coroner A. E. Green.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Ratepayers voted 344 to 168 in favor of a waterfront reclamation plan proposed by W. S. Mullet in a plebiscite here Saturday.

The vote was said to be the heaviest in years.

The plan calls for reclamation of a portion of the waterfront for the construction of a theatre, hotel and stores.

Now that Campbell River has approved the plan, Mr. Mullet said, the idea has to be sold to the provincial and federal governments.

NANAIMO—Nanaimo District Chamber of Commerce, construction headquarters, last Monday.

Postal Delivery Issue

ALBERNI—The controversial postal delivery question will be discussed at a public meeting in Somerset Legion hall on Monday, Nov. 28, at 8:30 p.m.

The meeting is being held to discuss the proposed changes in postal delivery routes and the impact on the community.

A representative of the post office department will be present to answer questions and discuss the proposed changes.

ug and Tow Start

Second Long Haul

Under Tow of the Victoria buoy, the disabled Greek Makedonia left Adak Aleutian islands early on the second and longed for its first sailing to B.C.

While, the Greek-owned Island freighter Adamas, was last week by another tug & Barge Ltd. to the Island Sovereign, to sail from Esquimalt today for Vancouver, reaching Adak last the skipper of the Ma-said he thought the might reach Vancouver a own power.

For, Capt. Harley Blag-d chief engineer Walter Hichen-Smith of Sudbury found the nut and key holding the propeller were so loose that the tow would have to be continued.

WALLOWED 12 DAYS

Makedonia wallowed in the north Pacific for 12 days before Sudbury reached her. The tug's 7,000-mile trip, which will end at Vancouver in two or three weeks, will be the longest salvage tow in marine history.

Last night, the tow was in the Behring sea 250 miles from Adak and proceeding at eight knots. Makedonia's engines were turning over slowly and weather conditions were favorable.

Bannister Steps Up

OXFORD — The world's first four-minute mile, Dr. Roger Bannister, was third to make a "decision for Christ" when evangelist Billy Graham preached last Sunday to a packed audience at Oxford.

About 1,000 persons crowded into St. Aldgate's Anglican church to hear Graham wind up his 10-day campaign in Britain's two major university towns, Oxford and Cambridge.

He expressed "great regret" that the East-West deadlock on disarmament had not been broken at the last Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Geneva.

Concerts Roaring Success For Spectacular Rubinoff

Grimacing, joking, stamping at his feet, striding around, shredding his bow and playing in spectacular fashion, Rubinoff and his $100,000 violin were "in vibration" with the more than 1,000 persons at Central Junior High School auditorium last night.

His appearance ended a day of eight concerts sponsored by Victoria Kiwanis Club. Five of them were free performances at schools. The others were a student matinee and a Gyro luncheon.

"I don't put on no airs," said Rubinoff as the last concert ended. "But I can feel the vibrations in my heart; I feel you are with me."

ELABORATE 'TEA'
Accompanist Homer Phillips started with the most elaborate arrangement of any popular song in history—that turned out to be "Tea for Two." Rubinoff played loudly and softly, plucked and bowed at the same time and did especially well with crystal-clear high notes in such songs as "Claire de Lune," "Warsaw Concerto" and "Hora Staccato."

"Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White" became a rhapsody; "When Day Is Done" had a low down-beat; "Rhapsody in Blue" was excellent; "Souvenir" was never better.

In 15 variations, "Davy Crockett" turned up with bagpipes, wolf calls, deep blues and the mechanical tread of "Drag- net."

At all concerts, he ended with "Brahms' Lullaby," and had his audience humming music," he said. "And some day 'Some day I come back and give the younger children some I give another concert, maybe?'" Prolonged applause gave him his answer.

Ferguson Design For British Car Radical But Cheap

LONDON (Reuters)—An ultra-modern "people's car" designed by tractor king Harry Ferguson is Britain's secret weapon in the war for export markets and will "revolutionize" the industry, a spokesman for his company said Monday.

Details of the car are a closely guarded secret, but at a transmission, the spokesman preface cost of from £400 to £450 would give no clues to the car's innovations. It is expected to include heretofore expensive conveniences such as automatic transmission, a four-wheel drive and a revolutionary type of transmission with such high efficiency that means of winning back the car the motor can be drastically re-export trade. The designers claim the car, with its technical advances, will outstrip in performance any car of comparable price.

The spokesman said: "A prototype has been tested against every make of car from the America, Italy, Germany, spokesman said."

Ailing Marie Dionne In Critical Condition

MONTREAL (UP)—Marie Dionne, 21-year-old quintuplet who left a nunnery last week, is in "very precarious condition" from pernicious anemia in a hospital here, it was reported Monday.

Marie, who grieved for months after quintuplet Emilie died during an epileptic seizure, Dainty, dignified Mrs. John Irwin, formerly of Calgary, called tea-time signals for three other guests at Emress hotel yesterday. On her left was Normie Kwong, yard-consuming fullback; on her right, Rolie Miles, redoubtable halfback; and across the table Jackie Parker, famous quarterback. Mrs. Irwin poured and chatted with the Eskimos, here for training for Grey Cup final in Vancouver Saturday. Only Rolie Miles was not in pads and sweatsuit. Players pad about Emress hotel in full football regalia, except for cleated shoes, which they don on steps outside. Helmets, right, were set aside while stars sipped tea.

Bombay Flares With Rioting

BOMBAY (AP)—More than 200,000 rioters led by Communists and Socialists of the extreme left turned India's second largest city into a smoking battlefield Monday. Ten persons were reported killed and 250 wounded and 1,000 were under arrest when uneasy quiet was restored.

Police and army units stayed on the alert Monday night. There was sporadic violence even after darkness fell.

Immigration Falling Off By 44,000

EDMONTON (CP)—Citizenship Minister Pickersgill says Canada will admit 110,000 immigrants from Europe this year, a drop of 44,000 from last year.

In an interview during a visit to Edmonton, Mr. Pickersgill said Monday this falling off is ascribed to improved employment conditions overseas and other factors.

George Wheaton Defends

Thomas Brands Chamber Booklet Cleverly Designed Propaganda

A booklet, "What About Profits?" which Victoria Chamber of Commerce officials last night, asked the Greater Victoria School Board to distribute in schools, has "factual inaccuracies, innuendoes and inferential comment," Dr. J. M. Thomas told the school board last night.

Dr. Thomas, who is a high school principal and supporter of the CCF, told the school board he was speaking as an "individual" and not representing any organization.

George Wheaton, speaking for the chamber, said the Canadian Chamber of Commerce published booklet as "a factual presentation in simple language, explaining the basic functioning of our business system."

"We would emphasize that we believe it to be factual, and would be prepared to withdraw our request for its distribution if it can be shown that the material is not factual," he said.

BOARD YIELDED

The school board at a previous meeting granted permission for distribution of the booklet and later yielded to opposition by the CCF and referred the matter to the department of education.

"Certainly the chamber of commerce supports your view that no political party should be allowed to circulate propaganda or literature of any kind in our schools. However, it is quite unfair to compare the request of the chamber with such a request from a political party," Mr. Wheaton said.

TAKE EXCEPTION

"We take very strong exception, therefore, to any attempt to question the motives of the chamber in its effort to distribute factual information."

But Dr. Thomas claimed "the booklet under discussion is a partisan publication. In keeping with all propagandist literature it is cleverly designed."

He added: "The assumption that all the booklet states is true, is a false basis and quite indefensible."

He said "the booklet does advocate a particular viewpoint, but this viewpoint is based on debatable evidence."

Dr. Thomas said that "schools should never be used to propagandize for believers in any religious denomination, political party or economic doctrine. The schools present facts, definitions and explanations and that is the extent of their field."

"To me the public school system is the very foundation stone of democracy. It must never become the tool of any 'ism' of any kind."

Cafe Bids For Power In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Joao Cafe Filho moved Monday night to reclaim the presidency of Brazil—posing the third government crisis in two weeks. But a congressional leader predicted Congress will approve a resolution barring Cafe's return.

With tension mounting in the capital, armed troops surrounded the presidential palace, the chamber of deputies, the war ministry and other key points. Troops passing through the streets en route to their posts were applauded by bystanders.

The government also imposed censorship on political news in newspapers, radio stations and outgoing news cables.

The area around the presidential palace was sealed off by troops. Provisional president Nereu Ramon, the second of Cafe's substitutes, presumably was inside the building.

Cafe made his bid late in the day after he was discharged from a hospital where he underwent treatment for the heart attack that forced him to take a leave of absence from the presidency.

Crippled B.C. Mills Back in Business As Big Strike Ends

Engineers Given Wage Hike

End of the three-week strike of International Operating Engineers (AFL-TLC) allows 8,000 lumber and pulp mill workers—5,000 on Vancouver Island—to go back to work today.

Following an emergency meeting in Vancouver yesterday, settlement was reached and communicated immediately to all union locals concerned.

It allowed immediate disbanding of pickets and return of shifts to mills at midnight.

Some 150 striking engineers have idled or partly shut down operations in 16 B.C. mills since Sunday, Nov. 6.

At Agassiz, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks confirmed word of the strike settlement. It was he who had called representatives of the employers, Forest Industrial Relations, and engineers' delegates to Vancouver to meet B.C.'s chief conciliator, William Fraser, yesterday.

Mr. Wicks said the strike had been working a hardship on some communities (Alberni and Port Alberni had asked government intervention fearing distress due to unemployment in mills). He said had the strike been allowed to continue it would have caused grievous bodily harm to others than those directly involved in the dispute—the mill operators and striking engineers.

Terms of settlement were unofficially announced as 10 cents-an-hour increase for engineers involved.

The boost would be retroactive to June 15, but spread over two years. In other words, engineers get an immediate retroactive five cents-an-hour increase, and another five-cent hike next June 15. Engineers had sought a 10 per cent overall wage increase.

The agreement, said Mr. Wicks, was signed by Ed Callan, Victoria, and Harry Berger, of Vancouver, representing the engineers, and John Billings, for the Forest Industrial Relations organization.

During the strike, International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) union men had circumscribed pickets at some Vancouver Island mills. But the shutdown had been almost complete at Alberni and Port Alberni.

Engineers' locals in Victoria and Vancouver went to yesterday's peace talks armed with a letter to the chief conciliating officer, Mr. Fraser, offering to accept his recommendation as binding.

British Offer

Alliance Proposed Of Science, Wealth

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters)—Britain Monday proposed an alliance between the technical skills of the West and the oil wealth of the Middle East to bring peace and prosperity to the area.

Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan made the proposal at the opening meeting of the council of the pro-Western Middle East Defence Organization—the five-power Baghdad Pact.

He said such an alliance would "work miracles in health, human welfare, productivity and enrichment of civilization" in the region which constitutes a vital desert flank of the Atlantic Alliance and lies on Russia's southern borders.

Usually reliable sources said Macmillan set up a military committee of high officers to draw up proposals for a permanent military structure binding the members into a NATO-like organization.

'Differences' Arising

Paper Urges Meeting Of Eden, Eisenhower

LONDON (Reuters)—The Daily Mail proposes a meeting at Gettysburg, Pa., soon between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden because a common policy between Britain and the United States has become of "critical importance."

"Differences seem already to have arisen over the four-power failure," the Conservative newspaper says, referring to the recent meeting in Geneva of the foreign ministers of Britain, the United States, Russia and France.

Listing apparent differences in policy between Britain and the United States, the Daily Mail says John Foster Dulles, U.S. secretary of state, had claimed the Geneva spirit had survived the foreign ministers' meeting.

"If a drink survives after one man has flung it in the face of another, we believe him," the newspaper says.

"He also says the cold war will go on but in a spirit of peaceful competition." That is a contradiction in one sentence. East and West now are engaged in a naked struggle for world power.

The Daily Mail says Dulles minimized the Geneva failure because of the impending presidential elections in the United States.

It claims the same elections are influencing American support of Israel through a desire to conciliate the Jewish vote at home.

Britain apparently is supporting the Arabs.

"Here is a situation of grave danger, with Britain apparently ranged on one side and America on the other," the Daily Mail adds.

It also says there is Anglo-American rivalry over oil in the Persian Gulf area.

In the face of these apparently contradicting policies in the Middle East, Russia is in the area the paper says.

B.C. MILLS REOPENED

Pay Hike Granted

End of the three-week strike of International Operating Engineers (AFL-TLC) allows 8,000 lumber and pulp mill workers—5,000 on Vancouver Island—to go back to work today.

Following an emergency meeting in Vancouver yesterday, settlement was reached and communicated immediately to all union locals concerned.

It allowed immediate disbanding of pickets and return of shifts to mills at midnight.

Some 150 striking engineers have idled or partly shut down operations in 16 B.C. mills since Sunday, Nov. 6.

Ferguson Design For British Car Radical But Cheap

LONDON (Reuters)—An ultra-modern "people's car" designed by tractor king Harry Ferguson is Britain's secret weapon in the war for export markets and will "revolutionize" the industry, a spokesman for his company said Monday.

Details of the car are a closely-guarded secret, but at a pre-tax cost of from £400 to £450 it will include heretofore expensive conveniences such as automatic transmission.

The government is keenly interested in Ferguson's car as a means of winning back the car export trade. The designers claim the car, with its technical advances, will outstrip in performance any car of comparable price.

The spokesman said: "A prototype has been tested against every make of car from America, Italy, Germany, France—all of them. It outperformed every one."

Apart from the automatic transmission, the spokesman would give no clues to the car's innovations. It is expected to feature light alloys throughout, a four-wheel drive and a revolutionary type of transmission with such high efficiency that the motor can be drastically reduced in size. Transmission brakes also are reported featured, and independent suspension of each wheel.

Ferguson, seeking a manufacturer for his car, soon will demonstrate a "utility" model to British motor firms, the spokesman said.

On her left was Normie Kwong, yard-consuming fullback; on her right, Rollie Miles, redoubtable halfback, and across the table Jackie Parker, famous quarterback. Mrs. Irwin poured and chatted with the Eskimos, here for training for Grey Cup final in Vancouver Saturday. Only Rollie Miles was not in pads and sweatsuit. Bombay Flares With Rioting

BOMBAY (AP)—More than more than four persons. Author-200,000 rioters led by Communists killed 185 passenger buses and Socialists of the extreme left were damaged. Including six turned India's second largest city into a smoking battlefield Monday. Ten persons were reported killed, 200 wounded and 1,000 were under arrest when uneasy quiet was restored.

Police and army units stayed on the alert Monday night. There was sporadic violence even after darkness fell.

The riots, the worst in Bombay in the eight years of India's independence, grew out of protest demonstrations against the decision of the federal government to make a separate state of Bombay.

Cafe Bids For Power In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Joao Cafe Filho moved Monday night to reclaim the presidency of Brazil—posing the third government crisis in two weeks. But a congressional leader predicted Congress will approve a resolution barring Cafe's return.

With tension mounting in the capital, armed troops surrounded the presidential palace, the chamber of deputies, the war ministry and other key points. Troops passing through the streets en route to their posts were applauded by bystanders.

The government also imposed censorship on political news in newspapers, radio stations and outgoing news cables.

The area around the presidential palace was sealed off by troops. Provisional president Nereu Ramos, the second of Cafe's substitutes, presumably was inside the building.

Cafe made his bid late in the day after he was discharged from a hospital where he underwent treatment for the heart attack that forced him to take a leave of absence from the presidency.

George Wheaton Defends

Thomas Brands Chamber Booklet Cleverly Designed Propaganda

A booklet, "What About Profits?" which Victoria Chamber of Commerce officials last night asked the Greater Victoria School Board to distribute in schools, has "factual inaccuracies, innuendoes and inferential comment," Dr. J. M. Thomas told the school board last night.

Dr. Thomas, who is a high school principal and supporter of the CCF, told the school board he was speaking as an "individual" and not representing any organization.

George Wheaton, speaking for the chamber, said the Canadian Chamber of Commerce published booklet as "a factual presentation in simple language, explaining the basic functioning of our business system."

"We would emphasize that we believe it to be factual, and would be prepared to withdraw our request for its distribution if it can be shown that the material is not factual," he said.

BOARD YIELDED

The school board at a previous meeting granted permission for distribution of the booklet and later yielded to opposition by the CCF and referred the matter to the department of education.

"Certainly the chamber of commerce supports your view that no political party should be allowed to circulate propaganda or literature of any kind in our schools. However, it is quite unfair to compare the request of the chamber with such a request from a political party," Mr. Wheaton said.

"We take very strong exception, therefore, to any attempt to question the motives of the chamber in its effort to distribute factual information."

But Dr. Thomas claimed "the booklet under discussion is a partisan publication. In keeping with all propagandist literature it is cleverly designed."

He added: "The assumption that all the booklet states is true, is a false basis and quite indefensible."

He said "the booklet does advocate a particular viewpoint, but this viewpoint is based on debatable evidence."

Dr. Thomas said that "schools should never be used to propagandize for believers in any religious denomination, political party or economic doctrine. The schools present facts, definitions and explanations and that is the extent of their field."

Sister's Condition Critical

MONTREAL (UP)—Marie Dionne, 21-year-old quintuplet who left a nunnery last week, is in "very precarious condition" from pernicious anemia in a hospital here, it was reported Monday.

Marie, who grieved for months after quintuplet Emilie died during an epileptic seizure in August, 1954, was known to have entered the Notre Dame de L'Esperance Hospital, but officials refused to say anything about the case.

Informants said Marie was suffering from pernicious anemia, which is a serious, once-fatal ailment involving a sharp reduction in the number of red cells in the blood.

Immigration Falling Off By 44,000

EDMONTON (CP)—Citizenship Minister Pickersgill says Canada will admit 110,000 immigrants from Europe this year, a drop of 44,000 from last year.

In an interview during a visit to Edmonton, Mr. Pickersgill said Monday this falling off is ascribed to improved employment conditions overseas and other factors.

Speakers of all five members —Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Pakistan and Iran—stressed the urgency of economic and military co-operation in the area and expressed the hope the United States will join the pact.

The U.S. already has decided on military and political liaison with the pact and has four observers at the closed meeting which followed the morning's opening session.

The Associated Press reported the premiers of the four Middle Eastern powers and Macmillan set up a military committee of high officers to draw up proposals for a permanent military structure binding the members into a NATO-like organization.
